

List of SME labels for space products or services

To carry out its activities, CNES relies on a community of industrial companies, including many SMEs, who master technologies, products or advanced space engineering activities.

CNES has decided to set up a label for SMEs to promote their activities carried out on behalf of the CNES or other institutional clients with national budget on technologies, products or engineering activities that have given full satisfaction.

The first labels will be given by the end of 2020.
